Crown Attorney Red Deer - Our company represents and advises different large and small, public and private companies on business issues. We even advise religious corporations and non-profit entities.

We work closely with our clients to be able to help them form privately held and publicly traded corporations, limited partnerships, limited liability companies, sole proprietorships and partnerships. We even help our clients as well as their accountants to make certain that their business transactions are structured in a manner that is the most tax advantageous. We think about both longer-term estate tax implications and short-term income tax considerations. In our work with small and large acquisitions and mergers, we think about business, tax and legal implications while structuring de-acquisitions and acquisitions in the way most useful to our client's.

We are knowledgeable in structuring equity arrangements, like for instance re-capitalizations, for organizations raising capital. Our aim is to ensure compliance with applicable laws in connection with SEC, state regulatory compliance and securities offerings.

Other services that a company could provide to our clients consist of: reviewing, negotiating and drafting capital business agreements and other arrangements such as sales and manufacturers' representative agreements, joint venture agreements, licenses, confidentiality and non-competition agreements, distributorship agreements, and employment agreements. We are skilled at preparing and drafting stock awards, phantom stock arrangements and stock options for select workers.

We have the experience and knowledge in helping family businesses in the transition of assets to a group of employees or a later generation.
